MESSAGE:

Dear Shelby Pittman,

I am enclosing the Request for Corrected Patent Publication that submitted on May 15, 2002, for the above patent application. This is for United States Patent Application No. US2002/0030331 A1. This request is made based on the recommendation provided by Mr. John Lachel of the United States Patent Office. As you will note, there are bracketed items that should have been deleted. These errors in publication made by the United States Patent Office are material and should require republication. I am also enclosing the confirmation from the United States Postal Service that was submitted along with the Express Mail item number EL493161216US with out docket number listed.

Please respond regarding republication of this patent application. Your assistance in this matter is deeply appreciated.

Kevin M. Kercher

USPTO-PG PUBSJAN 30 2004*Request for Corrected Patent Publication

Sir:

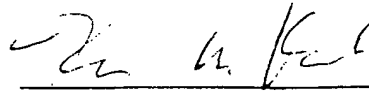

The above patent application was published on March 14, 2002. Upon close examination of this patent application, it is clear that a marked-up copy from the back of a preliminary patent amendment (hereby enclosed) was published and not a patent application. It is respectfully believed that this is a material mistake made by the United States Patent Office that is apparent from the Office Records. There are deleted words bracketed throughout this publication that are no longer part of the patent application. I am enclosing the corresponding patent application with section numbers that is ready for publication.

In view of the above, it is respectfully believed that this patent application should be republished under 37 C.F.R. Section 1.211. However, if the Initial Patent Examination Division feels otherwise, a telephone interview is respectfully requested. This document was filed within the two (2) month deadline.

Respectfully submitted,

Date: May 14, 2002
